We returned from North America yesterday (Wednesday) at lunch-time, and I must get this out by the weekend, in spite of jet-lag, in spite of idleness, in spite of procrastination. Even then, this October edition will be out a week late, and my apologies for that.

It really was a fabulous fortnight. We went first to TORONTO, CANADA - in order that we could say we had been to that country, so 'loyal to Her Majesty' - our Queen is also Queen of Canada. There we had a wonderful room above Toronto Harbour, looking gloriously south over the Islands to the other side of Lake Ontario.

We had a good look round both the Harbour and the town itself. My Anglican friend Canon Philip Hobson drove us round the city, visiting the large University area, his lovely church 'St Martin's-in-fields', the fine Anglican Cathedral, and fascinating Fort York built for the 1812 war against the US.

After three nights there, Fr Philip drove us two hours across the border to BUFFALO NY, along with another Anglican Priest I know, Fr John Gibaut. They are both deeply involved in ecumenical relations, so there was plenty to talk about.

All three of us clergy were there for the meeting of the International Commission for Anglican-Orthodox Dialogue. Delegates were all in a hotel together, generously hosted by the Greek parish of the Annunciation, where our meetings were held. The parish generosity was outstanding. We all came away with numerous gifts.

Hilary was not involved in the Dialogue, but joined us for meals, and was entertained by kind parishioners, with expeditions to an art gallery and the shops!

Our host was Fr Chris Christakis and he was aided by his assistant Fr John, Presbyteria Lisa, and Mary and numbers of others. They were hospitable, friendly and welcoming! Fr Chris used to be a priest at St Demetrios, Edmonton, so knows the English scene well.

On the Sunday our Orthodox Chairman, Metropolitan Kallistos from Oxford, served Hierarchical Liturgy with Metropolitan Chrysostomos (Cyprus) and Nifon (Romania), and Bishop Ilia (US, Albanian). Frs Chris, John, Valentin (Moscow) and I concelebrated.

Metropolitan Nicholas of Detroit, the local Greek Bishop, came to welcome us on our trip to the nearby, magnificent, Niagara Falls.

The Dialogues went well, completing our Report - it is briefly reported below. They were friendly, and though there were differences of balance we generally managed to achieve agreement.

Buffalo does not enjoy a great reputation as a city, but the authorities are working hard to make it a vibrant and pleasing place. It was beautiful weather (uncharacteristically, we were told), and we thoroughly enjoyed a bus tour round many lovely spots.

On the Friday we bade each other farewell and returned to our various parts of the planet - except that Hilary and I flew to NEW YORK CITY, staying four nights just off Wall Street in Lower Manhattan. This meant we were close to the centre of the city and to views of the Statue of Liberty.

We had a water tour round the Statue and Ellis Island (where immigrants formerly arrived), and a bus tour of the centre, which gave a good idea of the 'feel' of the city. We were moved by the 9/11 site and prayed at the site of the Greek church being rebuilt there.

On our second Sunday away we attended St Nicholas Antiochian Cathedral in Brooklyn. We met Fr Thomas Zain, Dean and Vicar-General, who received our gift of an icon of St Helen, and presented us with one of St Raphael of Brooklyn - we venerated a relic of him. We were blessed to find Metropolitan Joseph of North America there, and had a warm welcome from him and everyone else; we had a chance for a chat at lunch in a Lebanese restaurant.

We then went off to find the house in Brooklyn where my great-uncle lived and died in 1929. The next day we met a cousin of Hilary's for the first time, which meant a lot to both of them.

On our last day we were able to ride the famous subway to look round the magnificent Frick Collection of pictures and objets d'art, before going to JFK Airport for the night-flight home.

Altogether it was a very worthwhile visit - for both 'Church' affairs and personal and cultural ones. It was our first and probably last visit 'across the pond'.

We are really grateful for the financial help for this visit given by a parishioner, which made it all possible.

God bless you all, and all our friends in the New World.

Father Alexander*International Dialogue Report completed

The Pan-Orthodox Dialogue with the whole Anglican Communion has finished its work on the basic understanding of what it means to be human, and the Commission hopes it will help clarify the thinking of Christians on the matter.

The report will be published under the title In the Image and Likeness of God: a hope-filled anthropology. It tells of our agreement that Humanity, from conception to death, is of a unique value before God, and that we have a special responsibility for all human beings, and indeed for all creation. All humans have within them the image of God, and the restoration of his likeness in us all should be the aim in dealing with all problems. Theosis is to be our aim.

The second part of this work (in which I do not expect to take part) will be studying, from the basis outlined in the report, some of the burning issues before society and what should be the Christian response.
